HRPA

The Human Resources Professionals Association (HRPA) is Canada's largest HR association in the country, regulating the HR profession and issuing CHRP designations in Ontario.

When moving to their new location, the HRPA wanted to minimize private office requirements and update their overall aesthetic. The high panels of their old workstations blocked out natural light and communication between employees. Tayco's Cosmopolitan system allowed for lowered panels and sliding glazed doors to increase collaboration while still giving personal privacy and access to natural light from windows.

Private offices were furnished with Metropolis Executive casegoods, while the training room featured the One-Touch mobile flip-top table. The One-Touch table facilitates reconfiguration for group size requirements and can be easily stored when not in use to free up valuable space.
