Enersource

Enersource Hydro Mississauga, the leading energy provider in the city, needed to inject some “spark” into their otherwise functional space.

Wanting the new design to reflect their streamline image and sophisticated technology, Tayco and Enersource enlisted the features of Cosmopolitan; Tayco’s segmented tile system to jump-start the process of reinventing this 120-workstation space.

The panels conceal electricity and data cables, while accessories, such as magnetic marker boards, attach to the overhead storage doors to provide a great place for notes or presenting ideas. Cosmopolitan not only typified the urbane nature of the hydro world, but also reflected the forward thinking and expanding nature of the company itself. Cosmopolitan was the perfect solution for private offices, enhancing privacy with Tayco’s sliding doors. Today, Enersource is more space and energy savvy than ever.
