For immediate release: Tayco returns to IIDEX/NeoCon Canada with four new products.

TORONTO, August 27, 2008 - After a six year hiatus from the IIDEX/NeoCon Canada tradeshow held in Toronto, Tayco returns to launch four new product lines. "We're happy to be back," says Tayco President, Phil Philips. "We're looking forward to the event and are very optimistic about this year's product launches, which have already sparked a lot of interest within the A&D community at NeoCon."

"Comfort at work" is part of Tayco's brand proposition and is the theme for their booth at IIDEX. "People are happier, healthier, and more productive employees when they are comfortable in their workspace, says Philips. "It's our job to make sure that they are." Tayco supports this commitment by introducing storage enhancements for the Up post and beam system, and three new seating solutions in conjunction with Boss Design, a European designer, marketer, and manufacturer of seating products.

Designed by Dakota Kasdorf, UP storage seamlessly integrates into the award-winning Up post and beam system. In addition to its easy-to-reach organizational capabilities, Up storage also acts as guest seating, secondary worksurfaces, and space division, which accommodates a small footprint, reduces the end user's cost of ownership, and enhances communication and collaboration in the workplace. These enhancements also support Up's six-inch worksurface height adjustability range and help clients to achieve LEED certification for their environment.

Tayco will also expand its seating collection with Sona, Sonatec, and Pro, all designed by European designer Paul Brooks for Boss Design.

Sona is a beautifully designed ergonomic task chair that promises maximum support, controlled flexibility, and optimum efficiency. Its unique J-bar works in conjunction with the back to provide excellent adjustability, comfort, and clean lines.

Sonatec is an advanced task chair that ensures ease of use and maximum comfort. Its distinctive combination of advanced technology, specialized control purposes and affordable parts has successfully produced a sophisticated task chair with competitive pricing.

Pro is a natural companion to both the Sona and Sonatec as a visitor or boardroom chair. Its gently arching form and beautifully tailored upholstery is reinforced by a satisfying level of comfort.

Sona, Sonatec, and Pro complement Tayco's innovative and growing line-up of systems and casegoods furniture.
